Enhance your online reading in two steps (reenactment of a collective workshop performance with Rick Reuter and a varying number of participants):

1) Scraping: Copy as much text as you can from web pages into a document in a certain amount of time. Rifle through your open tabs, follow links, open new pages, but don't get stuck reading. Just mark and copy as much text as you like and quickly move on. Select all and copy/paste commands come in handy.

2) Transformation: Use online tools like summarization, markov chain generators, etc. to mash up the text and reduce it to a manageable size.

The text above is the result of a 5 minute scraping process, resulting in 90 pages of text, condensed to 9 pages using Hannes Bajohrs automatengedichtautomat – a highly economic, yet poetic reading experience.
